Company: Sage Adjusting, LLC

With three decades of expertise in the workers' compensation field, this claims adjuster is highly qualified to handle any related matters. She has created a remarkable career showcasing his shrewdness, dedication, and knowledge. Her extensive background makes Robbie a respected figure in the industry, known for her ability to tackle complex cases quickly and efficiently.

My Everyday

Efficiently managing emails, handling urgent matters, and providing timely updates - that's just the start of my everyday tasks. Supervising reviews and attending to inquiries from claimants, attorneys, and fellow claims personnel keep me on my toes. And yes, I even tackle questions about claims I may not be directly involved in!

How Being a Case Manager Changed Me

Working as an adjuster changes your perspective. Dealing with workers' compensation claims has completely reshaped my view of people. I constantly strive to believe in the best in people, but after witnessing so much, it's challenging to fully trust the extent of injuries and the truthfulness of individuals.

Proudest Moment

One of my proudest achievements was successfully convicting a Longshoreman at Ingalls Ship Building for fraud. This led to a significant monetary fine and a two-year prison sentence and resulted in a remarkable 30% decrease in reported injuries.

Job Stress

Dealing with claimant attorneys can be incredibly stressful. It's frustrating when they prioritize their own interests over their clients' recovery from injury.

Always's Learning

Every day in this job presents a chance for growth and progress, regardless of the outcome.
